UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 4, No. 1 Houston 4, Texas April 1, 1953

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

This issue of News Notes contains the books catalogued and added to the University Library during two months in the summer of 1952. Pamphlets and bound periodicals are not included. An examination will show that many of the titles included are those requested by members of the teaching staff of the University. We hope that more teachers will become interested enough to request books. Summer School will soon be here and the library probably needs some books for courses which will be offered. We can acquire some of these if the teachers will let us know what they wish.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 4, No. 2 Houston 4, Texas October 1, 1953

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

This issue of News Notes contains the books cataloged and added to the University Library during the first semester of the 1952-1953 school year. Pamphlets and bound periodicals are not included. Many of the titles added are those requested by members of the teaching staff of the University.

The Summer School this year, proved that the library and the teaching staff must work together in planning for the needs of such large groups of students. The library can serve its patrons better if such plans are made well in advance.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 4, No. 23 Houston 4, Texas April 1, 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

The titles in this issue of News Notes represent a part of the books added during the second semester of the 1952-53 school year. Changes in staff personnel have prevented the regular appearance of this periodical, which attempts to keep its readers up-to-date on some of the new acquisitions of the University Library.

The staff of the library takes what we think is pardonable pride in the fact that we now have 60,000 volumes housed in the three libraries. Last school year our users borrowed more than 62,000 books and periodicals for home and library use. We also observed a larger number of students using the reading rooms of the libraries.

The University Librarian and the library staff wish to thank the editors of the student publication, The Herald, for the timely and thought-provoking article on the library. With their permission we reprint the following passage:

"For improving one's library decorum we suggest the following:

(1) enter quietly, (2) bear in mind our obligation to our environment, (3) create as little noise as possible.

Be ever mindful of the adage, 'Silence is golden.'"

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 4, No. 4 Houston 4, Texas April 15, 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

The University Librarian is happy to report that 62,000 volumes were borrowed from the libraries last school year. The average enrollment for two semesters and summer was 2048 students who borrowed a total of 59,167 volumes of books and periodicals or more than 28 volumes per student. Although this is an average number and does not tell how many books each student actually borrowed it is encouraging information. We hope that the average for this year will be greater. We also hope that those students who have borrowed few or no books will find their way to the library and borrow some books for home reading.

The titles in this issue of News Notes represent books added during the early spring of 1953. For the records of those persons who keep a file of this publication, we wish to correct the serial number of the last issue of News Notes. It should have been Vol. 4, No. 3.

INADVERTENTLY, SOME OF THE TITLES IN THIS ISSUE WERE JUGGLED.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

THE LIBRARY OF THE
APR 20 1954
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Vol. 4, No. 5 Houston 4, Texas April 20, 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

The University Library attempts to purchase as many books and journals as possible for the use of its community. However, many books are out of print or are needed so rarely that we do not have them. Sets of journals are very expensive and the library cannot purchase all titles of which only a few volumes may be needed occasionally.

In order to make our library as extensive and serviceable as possible we enter into inter-library loan agreements with other institutions. We agree to lend them materials which they may need in return for the privilege of borrowing from them. The libraries of the United States have accepted a code of regulations to control inter-library loans. This code has been accepted by the American Library Association, its component parts and affiliated organizations as the working regulations for inter-library loans.

We print in this issue of the News Notes the important provisions of this code for the information and guidance of the users of Texas Southern University Library. We strongly urge our users to read these provisions before asking the Reference Librarian to borrow a book on inter-library loan. A copy of the full code may be borrowed from the Reference Department of the University Library.

GENERAL INTERLIBRARY LOAN CODE 1952

I. Introduction

1. Interlibrary loans are transactions in which material is lent by one library to another library for the use of an individual borrower. Interlibrary loan service supplements a library's resources by making available, through direct loans for a short period of time, materials located in other libraries and not owned by the borrowing library.

II. Definition of Purpose

The purpose of interlibrary loans is to make available for research and for serious study library materials not in a given library, with due provisions made by the lending library for the rights of its primary clientele.

III. Responsibility

1. Interlibrary loan service is a courtesy and a privilege, not a right, and is dependent upon the cooperation of many libraries. Because of the cost of the service and the conflict in demands for certain classes of material, the interlibrary loan service should be restricted (especially when borrowing from large research libraries) to requests that cannot be filled by any other means.

3. As applied to research for advanced degrees, it is assumed that the candidates in any institution will choose dissertation topics according to the resources at hand and not those which will involve attempting to borrow a large part of the necessary library resources from other libraries.

4. It is assumed that the borrowing library will carefully screen all applications for loans and that it will reject those which do not conform to the Code.

IV. Conditions of Loans

1. The safety of borrowed materials is the responsibility of the borrowing library from the date of their arrival in that library to the date of their receipt back by the lending library.

2. In the case of loss or damage the borrowing library is obligated to meet the cost of repair, rebinding, or replacement (including processing costs), or to supply a replacement copy, whichever is preferred by the lending library.

3. The borrowing library is bound by any conditions or limitations of use imposed by the lending library. If no specific conditions have been made, the borrowing library will safeguard borrowed materials as carefully as it would its own.

6. Special conditions on the use of unpublished theses may be imposed by the lending library. These may include restrictions to use within the library building; permission required from the author for the loan or reproduction of the thesis; signed by the individual borrower of a "use sheet" in front of thesis.

V. Scope

1. Almost any material possessed by a library, unless it has been acquired on terms which entirely preclude its loan or duplication, may on occasion be lent to or photographed for another library. The lender alone must decide in each case whether a particular loan or photographic copy should, or should not, be made.

2. However, because of the purpose of interlibrary loans, libraries should not request, especially of research libraries, the following types of materials (unless asking under a special cooperative agreement): Current fiction; current issues of periodicals (some libraries may be willing to lend current issues of foreign or little used periodicals); inexpensive items currently purchasable in this country; books for class use; a high percentage of the books basic for a thesis being written for the borrowing institution; current books for which there is anticipated a recurring demand in the borrowing library.

3. Moreover, libraries ought not request, esepcially of research libraries, excepting under unusual and explained circumstances the following types of materials: extremely rare books; a very large number of titles at one time for one applicant; music to be used in public performance; works difficult and expensive to pack, e.g., newspapers.

Material is, or might be located, a regional union catalog or the National Union Catalog at the Library of Congress may be consulted.

VIII. Information Required on Requests

1. Materials requested must be described completely and accurately, following accepted bibliographic practice (see VIII.3 below).

2. Items requested should be verified and sources of verification given. (Cf. Appendix III for standard abbreviations of sources of verification). When verification is impossible, because of lack of bibliographic tools, the statement "Cannot verify" should be made and the original source of reference be cited, including page reference. If this provision is disregarded, and the bibliographic data appear to be incorrect, the request may be returned unfilled.

3. Specific information required for requests is:

a. BOOKS or pamphlets:
   1. Full author entry, corporate or personal; when personal, supply full names, or at least the correct surname and initials of forenames if full names are not ascertainable.
   2. Title, exact and full enough for positive identification.
   3. Edition, when a particular one is sought. Specify "Any edition" if such is satisfactory.
   4. Imprint, including place of publication, publisher (if known) and date.
   5. Volume number if part of a set; give title of set if different from individual title.
   6. If part of a series, give title of the series and the serial number of the item.

b. SERIALS:
   1. Exact title of the serial, complete enough for positive identification.
   2. Volume number
   3. Date of volume; if very recent volume or if issues are separately paged, give also the number and/or date of the issue wanted.

4. Inclusive pagination of article desired, if this information is available.

5. Author and title of the article, or subject if the title is not known.

Note: Occasionally special government libraries will withhold this information in order to protect their organization's research interests.

4. For foreign language material, author and title, and/or serial title, must be in the language of the version desired, not in translation. In the case of non-Roman alphabetic languages, this information should be transliterated. For Oriental languages, and other languages admitting of several transliterations, the transliteration should be accompanied by slips giving the author and title in the original script, supplied by the applicant for the loan.

XII. Duration of Loan

1. The duration of loan is normally calculated to mean the period of time the item is to be in the borrowing library, disregarding the time spent in transit.

2. The loan period is often limited to two weeks for books and one week for unbound periodical issues. However, some libraries grant longer initial loan periods as a matter of policy or under very special circumstances.

XIII. Renewal

1. Renewal requests should not be encouraged. In any case a second renewal should not be asked for without a specific explanation. It should be remembered that the borrowed material was originally acquired for the use of the owning library's clientele, and should be available on its shelves.

2. The renewal request should reach the lending library on or before the date due.

3. The lending library should answer the borrowing library's renewal request promptly. If renewed, the lending library indicates the new date or the renewal period granted.

XIV. Recall

Material on loan is subject to recall at any time at the discretion of the lending library. The borrowing library should comply promptly.

"Continued disregard by a borrowing library of the provisions of this Code is sufficient reason for another library to decline to lend to said library...Interlibrary loan service is a courtesy and a privilege, not a right, and is dependent upon the cooperation of many libraries."

These provisions of the Inter-library loan code are taken from the code as printed in College and Research Libraries, October 1952 and reprinted by Gaylord Brothers of Syracuse, New York.

This issue of News Notes contains titles of books in library science and children's literature. The books in the latter class are all marked with a "J" for juvenile and are housed in room 206 in the Administration Building. Cards for these books are not in the catalog of the Main Library but are in the catalog in room 206. This room is open for use at hours which vary from the other libraries, but the schedule is posted on the door.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 4, No. 7 Houston 4, Texas July 1, 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

The University Library is happy to greet each and everyone of the 2500 or more students enrolled in this our largest summer session. We hope your stay will be profitable.

The library, with slightly more than 62,000 volumes, is proud to announce a circulation of over 4200 books for the first 10 days of service. This is an encouraging sign of increased use of library facilities. We hope, with increased use, there will remain the patience and understanding heretofore exhibited by students.

The titles in this issue of the News Notes represent books added during the late spring and summer of 1953.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 3 Houston 4, Texas November 20, 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

IMPORTANT

This issue of the NEWS NOTES is composed of a supplementary list of bound periodicals in the libraries of Texas Southern University. This list replaces a similar list issued February 15, 1952. An attempt has been made to include all bound volumes of magazines, and journals, regardless of the number of volumes on the shelves. At present these journals are shelved in alphabetical order in the main reading room and on the second tier stacks of the Main Library, in the reading room and stacks of the Fairchild Branch Library, and in the reading room and stacks of the Pharmacy Branch Library. As additions, and new titles are received they will be added to the present collection, space permitting.

Those readers and users of the University Library who have copies of titles will render the University Library a great service by consulting Mrs. Gladys Fletcher, Serials Librarian, to see if we need the issues to complete our volumes.

Faculty members are encouraged to recommend titles of journals they feel should be a part of the library's collection.

This issue of NEWS NOTES should be retained as a permanent record.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 5 Houston 4, Texas February 7, 1955

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

This issue of NEWS NOTES continues a policy of selection of titles for inclusion here. It does not cover all books received by the University Library, but only the most outstanding titles. The titles in this issue represent the outstanding books added during the spring semester of 1953-1954. Pamphlets and journals are not included here.

It is very encouraging to note that the use of the library has greatly increased. Circulation figures show that almost twice as many books were borrowed during the period September -December, 1954 as in September - December, 1953. This is especially true in the Fairchild Branch Library. This increased educational effort on the part of the Texas Southern University student body is to be commended.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 9 Houston 4, Texas May 10, 1955

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

This issue of NEWS NOTES continues the policy of selection of titles continued here. It does not cover all books received by the University Library, but only the most outstanding titles. The titles in this issue represent the outstanding books added during the summer of 1954. Pamphlets and journals are not included here.

The University Library is very happy to announce the acquisition of several newspapers on microfilm. The library has purchased and received the New York Times on microfilm, from January 1939 through December, 1949 and January, 1952 through April, 1955. In addition, the library has also received the Chicago Defender on microfilm from April, 1921 through June, 1950, and also the Pittsburgh Courier on microfilm from January 20, 1923 through December 25, 1954. These long run of newspapers will make a significant contribution to the library collection. It will enable students and faculty members and researchers to have such material and information as found in these newspapers at their ready disposal. The acquiring of the two Negro newspapers, The Chicago Defender and the Pittsburgh Courier is toward building up material for the Heartman Negro Collection.

These microfilm newspapers may be used by students, faculty members, and others at any time during the normal operation of the University Library. A microfilm reader has been provided by the University Library for the convenience of those persons desiring to use microfilm. This reader is housed in the Reading Room of the Main Library and is available for use at all times. For further information please check the office of the University Librarian.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol 8, No 11 November , 1954

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

THE LIBRARY OF THE
NOV 10 1954
UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

This issue of LIBRARY NEWS NOTES is a listing of recent additions to the Heartman Negro Collection. This collection is of historical, cultural, and educational value to student's and faculty members, as well as other serious scholars, who seek information on the background and development of Negroes, their contributions to world progress, and their impact upon world culture.

The Collection contains approximately 10,000 items (books, pamphlets, documents, magazines, maps, broadsides, lithographs, etc.) with heavy concentration on Slavery and the Civil War. The emphasis, in the future however, will be on the Negro in Texas and the Southwest.

The Heartman Collection is available for use during the following hours:

Monday thru Friday 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m

Saturdays 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon

A complete catalogue of the holdings of the collection is in preparation, and will greatly facilitate use of the collection by scholars and researchers outside the university. At the present time, materials are limited to use in the library.

CATALOG, HEARTMAN NEGRO COLLECTION, TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

Vol. 5, No. 12

Published by the Library Staff of Texas Southern University

This catalog, the first of several parts, is of the Heartman Negro Collection, housed at Texas Southern University. Purchased during the early years of Texas Southern University from Mr. Charles Heartman, a book dealer, the Collection is of enormous historical and educational value to the students and faculty members of the university seeking information on the background and development of Negro people, their contributions to world progress, and their impact on world culture.

The Collection consists of books, pamphlets, periodicals, maps, broadsides, documents, almanacs, lithographs, oil paintings, musical scores, clippings, cartoons, and various curios, dating from 1600 to 1955. The literature of this Collection is devoted not only to the Negro in the United States, but contains information dealing with the background and development of Negro people in every section of the globe where they have lived in any concentrated numbers. At present, emphasis is placed on the historical, rather than the contemporary aspect of the Negro's contribution to world progress, and his impact on world culture. In the future, more importance will be placed on contemporary aspects of Negro culture than to historical aspects. The Collection will be of great value to researchers because of the personal accounts, and retrospective information, contained therein.

The Heartman Negro Collection is perhaps the largest and most important collection on the Negro to be found in the Southwestern section of the United States. Its place among other known collections on this subject cannot be determined until all materials have been processed. Only then will it be possible to ascertain the exact nature of its contents and to make a comparison of the holdings with other collections. To date, approximately three-fourths of the items in the Collection have been cataloged, and a cursory examination reveals the Collections enormous historical and educational value.

There are approximately fifteen thousand items in the Collection, of which over six thousand are books, and five thousand are pamphlets. The remaining number is composed of unbound pamphlets, newspapers, broadsides, maps, etc., which will have to have special treatment before being placed at the disposal of the users of the Collection. The old newspapers constitute one of the most valuable groups in the Collection. This Collection dates from 1762 to 1900, with two Negro newspapers on microfilm dating from 1923 through 1955. At present, only a limited use of the old newspapers is extended because of their fragile nature. Preparations are being made for the scientific treatment of these newspapers to preserve them, and thereby increase their usefulness.

The usefulness of such a Collection as the Heartman Negro Collection will be determined only by how well it meets the needs of its users. This catalog is being prepared in the hope that the faculty and the students of the university, as well as researchers throughout the country will find materials helpful to them in their investigations and researches. Because of the nature of the materials, the Collection is limited to use therein. Only on rare instances will items be available for outside use, and then only through interlibrary loan.

Observations and criticisms of all those interested in such a Collection as this, are freely and earnestly solicited. We, the staff of Texas Southern University Library, welcome any suggestions as to new materials to be added to the Heartman Negro Collection.

HEARTMAN NEGRO COLLECTION

LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 13

Published by the Library Staff of Texas Southern University

The Heartman Negro Collection catalog, of which this is Part II, continues where Part I ended. The Collection uses the Dewey Decimal Classification scheme, with slight changes to suit the Collection. This catalog will list the books according to broad subject areas (General works; Philosophy).

In addition to cataloged materials, the library also has Negro newspapers available on microfilm. These are:

1. Chicago Defender (1921-1954)

2. Pittsburgh Courier (1923-1954)

Many of the materials of the Collection are documents and pamphlets, as well as copies of speeches of and about Negroes. Some of these items are as yet uncatalogued, due to the inability to determine the author or editor, and the place of publication. Much effort is being expended to catalog and classify this material and make it available for use. We realize that much valuable information is contained in such documents and pamphlets that would be of interest to scholars and researchers, but beg their indulgence.

Copies of this catalog should be retained for compilation into a complete set.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 14

Published by the Library Staff of Texas Southern University

This issue of Library News Notes continues the listing of recent additions to the Heartman Negro Collection as begun in the November, 1955 News Notes.

The Heartman Collection consists of books, pamphlets, periodicals, documents, clippings, and other items dealing with the history and development of the Negro from 1600 to 1955. The literature of the collection is devoted not only to the Negro in the United States, but also in every section of the world where they have lived in any concentrated numbers. It is perhaps the largest and most important collection on the Negro to be found in the Southwestern section of the United States.

There are approximately 15,000 items in the collection, with concentration on literature by and about the Negro in the United States. A complete catalogue of the Heartman Collection is being prepared, with the first part available to all requesting a copy from the University Library.

The Collection is available for use during the following hours:

Monday thru Friday 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Saturdays 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

Vol. 5, No. 15

Published by the Library Staff of Texas Southern University

This number of NEWS NOTES continues the policy of selecting the new additions to the library to be reported herein. Only those items deemed of special importance are listed.

The material listed herein represents new additions to the University Library in the Spring of 1955.

We must call attention to the extremely large number of overdue books. Students are accumulating excessive book charges and fines through negligence. With the change in library regulations concerning fines and overdue books (see University Bulletin Boards) there needs to be more emphasis placed on returning books promptly.

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY STAFF OF TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

This issue of LIBRARY NEWS NOTES continues the established policy of listing only select additions to the University Library. The items listed here do not comprise all the titles which have been added to the University Library; only those thought to be of significant importance are listed herein.

An item of recent importance, which may be of interest to the readers of this NEWS NOTE, is the recent acquisition of the Norfolk Journal and Guide on microfilm for a period of thirty-two years (1923-1955). This item brings to three the total number of Negro newspapers now available for use on microfilm. The others are The Pittsburgh Courier, and The Chicago Defender.

Attention should be called to the recent transfer of all reserved books from the Main Library to room 206 of the Administration Building. With this transfer new hours and rules have been established for the use of reserved books. Such changes are as follows:

PUBLISHED BY THE PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE

TEXAS SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The books listed are recent additions to the Library collection. This list does not represent all of the books received from April 1958 until present, but only those whose organization (collating, assessioning, cataloging, classifying, equipping and shelving) has been completed. Cards for all titles included have been placed in the card catalog.

An examination will show that many of the titles included are those requested by members of the teaching staff. We hope other faculty members will add to this list and help us acquire needed books.
